DESCRIPTION
On the night of April 14, 1865, President Abraham Lincoln was shot by the dashing young actor, John Wilkes Booth at Ford’s Theatre in Washington City. While Lincoln lay dying, his assassin was making his escape into Southern Maryland.

Over the next 12 days, Booth and his accomplice, David Herold, were tracked through the lower counties of Maryland and across the Potomac River into Virginia. They were finally trapped at Garrett’s Farm near Bowling Green, Virginia, where Herold was taken prisoner and Booth was shot and killed by federal troops. Herold was hanged along with Mary Surratt on July 7, 1865.

The Surratt Society sponsors tours each spring and fall along Booth’s escape route. Many of the same roads and houses used by Booth are still in existence and are visited on this excursion which is narrated by nationally-recognized authorities on the Lincoln assassination and John Wilkes Booth’s flight.

Also included is a visit to the Steven F. Udvar-Hazy Center Air & Space Museum in Dulles.

Tour price includes transportation, hotel, tour fees, Friday dinner, Saturday breakfast and lunch, taxes and gratuities.
